Steel Plants Enters Second Day Peacefully

ESTIMATE 750,000 WORKERS INVOLVED

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 22.—

A grim atmosphere hung over mill towns today as the nation-wide steel strike, involving 750,000 workers, moved into its second day.

Picketing proceeded in orderly fashion and there were no reports of violence along the steel front.

Union leaders girded for a long siege, if necessary, The shutdown of plants was virtually complete and the production of steel dropped to the lowest point

Little Business Is Important

Abroad, and even in this country, large corporations are accepted for great corporations like U.S. as typical of American business. Yet, as Prof. George W. President Truman's appeal to the people as "the most powerful whole controversy believe the fact pressure group in the world" was the greatest dud since Roosevelt started this form of political brigandage. It won him no support in Congress or willing, anxious even, to find a comthe nation. Few letters were written to Congressmen as a result of the promise tirade, and not all of these favored his "program.

But the Truman attempt did produce a suggestion that could be helpful to him. It came from a Republican member of Congress. Rep. Everett M. Strike Conditions Hamper President

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.-Imaging, if you can, a president of the United States trying to compose a message on the state of the union and to put together a series of budget estimates with the threat hanging over his head of the greatest strike in American history.

He completes his message and his budget for the coming fiscal year. He sends them out in advance to Press and radio. Then the strike in the steel industry begins.

It would seem to invalidate every figure he uses. How can you possibly plan a federal budget, based on estimates of revenue from taxation. if you are faced with an industrial crisis that may knock all your tax estimates into a cocked hat?

March of Dimes, conducted January 14-31 by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis as a "fitting tribute" to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt. General Eisenhower said:

"There will be no question of the response from every American who understands the urgency of the appeal. In our country infantile paralysis remains as one of the scourges that we must strive to eliminate, and I am certain that the fighting services and all veterans and civilians will unite in helping to defeat this enemy just as they did in gaining the victory over the Axis in the field."

War Trial Of Gen. Homma Is Delayed Week

trial of Lt. Gen Masaharu Homma was recessed for one week Monday after rejection of a defense motion for a verdict of not guilty at the conclusion of the prosecutions' testhe "Beast of Bataan" granted a defense plea to dismiss six specifications for lack of proof and five others for lack of oral testimony. However, 36 specifications still were left against Hemmi

Graphic Testimony

The final session before the recess was marked by nine hours of gripping testimony by Col. John Pugh of Washington, D. C., who was Gen. Jonathan Wainwright's intelligence officer, and Major Achille Tisdale of Chicago, Ill., aide on Bataan to Maj. Gen. Ed King.

Newly arrived from the states they gave graphic testimony in emotion-choked voices of the tragic surrender of Wainwright and King Pugh struck heavy blows for the prosecution by describing Homma's arrogance in demanding that Wainwright surrender all the Philippine although Wainwright had authority only over Corregidor and three other Manila harbor islands Picture Shows Homma

Pugh capped his testimony by showing a captured Japanese photograph of the Bataan surrender scene showing Homma with his head thrown back in a Prussian-like pose glaring haughtily at Wainwright.

In sharp contrast with the arrogance of that scene. Homma today sat with his head bowed, his chin or his chest and his face flushed..

Pugh told how the white flag was run up at Corregidor May 6 but said the Japs continued to bomb and shell the island that day and the night following, killing many Amer-
